List of Free* Image Sources

Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA)
http://www.fema.gov/blog-newsroom-videos-photos

- Please acknowledge FEMA as the source of used material. FEMA's preference for the credit line is: FEMA/<photographer's name>, or without a photographer's name: FEMA News Photo.

Dreamstime
http://www.dreamstime.com/free-photos

- Free Images section on website
- Free email registration required to access images
- All media used within editorial context or related must be accompanied by a visible credit line. You are required to include a copyright notice and author/agency credit next to each image used within editorial purposes. The credit line format is specified on the Download page for each image.

Wikimedia Commons
http://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/Category:Images

- Wikimedia Commons is a media file repository making available public domain and freely-licensed educational media content (images, sound and video clips) to everyone
- Listings by Category or use Search box to locate images

rgbstock
http://www.rgbstock.com/

- All images available for download from the galleries are completely free, if they are being used within the Terms of Use and Image License rules: http://www.rgbstock.com/license

morgueFile
http://www.morguefile.com/

- The morguefile contains photographs freely contributed by many artists to be used in creative projects by visitors to the site. To acknowledge the artist's accomplishments, we ask that you credit the photographer when possible. Any questions regarding liabilities should be directed to the specific photographer.

National Park Service
http://www.nps.gov/media/multimedia-search.htm

- Multimedia credited to NPS without any copyright symbol are public domain. Multimedia credited with a copyright symbol (indicating that the creator may maintain rights to the work) or credited to any entity other than NPS must not be presumed to be public domain; contact the host park or program to ascertain who owns the material.

Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy
http://energy.gov/eere/about-us/photographs

- Links to 9 photo collections
- Most photographs are in the public domain and may be used. Please include any credits that appear alongside the photograph; where no credits are listed, please credit DOE's Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy. Any photos on this site that are restricted will include a copyright notice. It is the user's responsibility to contact copyright owners and obtain the written permission required under U.S. copyright law before using these materials.
- High-resolution photos can generally be obtained from http://images.nrel.gov/

Unsplash
https://unsplash.com/

- Free service: Site posts 10 new photos every 10 days
- All photos published on Unsplash are licensed under Creative Commons Zero which means you can copy, modify, distribute and use the photos for free, including commercial purposes, without asking permission from or providing attribution to the photographer or Unsplash.

Disclaimer: Licensing for these websites is subject to change. Presenters remain ultimately responsible for verifying and ensuring that use does not infringe rights of others.

List of Paid Royalty-Free Image Sources

BigStockPhoto
http://www.bigstockphoto.com/

iStock
http://www.istockphoto.com/

Shutterstock
http://www.shutterstock.com/

Royalty-Free images typically provide unlimited usage from a single payment. Each site has their own usage and citation requirements, which should be verified and followed by the Presenter.